FROM LOTHAL TO LEADERSHIP INDIA'S MARITIME EVOLUTION

2400 BCE

Lothal Dockyard

The Indus-Valley port of Lothal perfects a tidal-lock basin, enabling Harappan merchants to sail the Gulf of Khambhat and trade beads, copper and cotton with Mesopotamia.

1000 CE

Chola Blue-Water Navy

Chola emperors build a formidable fleet, mastering monsoon winds to extend Indian influence across South-East Asia and control vital spice routes.

1700s

Maratha Naval Power

The Maratha Navy under Admiral Kanhoji Angre secured India's western seaboard, building fort-based shipyards and leading indigenous naval resistance to colonial fleets.

5 Apr 1919

S.S. Loyalty

India's first merchant steamship, owned by Scindia Navigation, departs Bombay for London—igniting the modern Indian merchant marine and now celebrated as National Maritime Day.

1963

The Major Port Trusts Act

The MPTA gave India's major ports autonomy to set tariffs and reinvest profits, unlocking finance for dredging, container terminals and mechanised handling. This self-governance doubled national port capacity within 20 years and guided operations until 2021.

2015

Sagarmala

Government unveiled a ₹8 lakh crore port-led development plan to modernise infrastructure, cut logistics cost, and boost coastal employment.

2024

Vadhavan Port

Vadhvan Port is poised to become one of the top 10 ports globally. The port will serve as a major shipping hub, featuring nine 1,000 meter long container terminals, multipurpose berths. The port will act as India's new gateway to international trade, with a total capacity of 298 million metric tonnes (MMT) per year.

2025

And the Journey Continues

India advances its green maritime agenda through the Harit Sagar Guidelines, Green Tug Transition Programme, Harit Nauka Scheme, and Green Corridors. Backed by Sagarmala, this includes clean fuels, electric vessels, and smart port tech like AI, IoT, and bathymetric systems to power a sustainable, tech-driven Blue Economy.
